MEET YOUR SAVANNAH OAKS BARTENDERS!

BARTENDERS! We appreciate the hard work and dedication of our clubhouse staff. We thought it would be fun to get to know them better so will be highlighting individuals each month. This month – meet Joe Mosinski Joe is in his second year as a bartender at Savannah Oaks. He is a resident of Candlewick Lake along with this wife, Christina, and three children ages 11, 7 and 4.

We all know Joe for his outstanding service and friendly personality, but there's much more than meets the eye to this interesting and smart guy. His day job is as a Project Manager for Complied 365. He works with domestic and international air and rail companies to implement his company's cloud-based software into their systems to enable these transportation companies to ensure they are in compliance with all safety regulations. Pretty impressive!!

When in his 20's Joe attended and graduated from ABC Bartender school in Schaumburg, IL. After that Joe has worked for several food and beverage establishments, including Hollywood Palms in Naperville. Even now, he continues to work special events and private parties.

It won't surprise you that Joe describes himself as a

"people person". He truly enjoys the interaction with his customers. The reason he took the job at Savannah Oaks was for the social aspect – he wanted to meet new people and get involved in the community.

AND – Joe enjoys creating specialty drinks. Let Joe know what type of flavors and liquor you like, and he will customize a drink especially for you.

Joe and his family are recent additions to Candlewick Lake. They moved here a little over a year ago, and we are sure glad they did.

The fall season brings some added activities to Savannah Oaks.

Come watch your favorite football team play with your friends and enjoy drink specials and door prizes. Our premier game in September is the nationally televised Bears v Packers on Sunday, Sept. 18th. Raffle/ door prizes include genuine Bears and Packer jerseys.

Information

From the Table - Just a Bite

By S.L. Bartels, Drew Ct. What's Your Beef?

One of the by-products of Covid was that we began watching an eclectic variety of TV programs. One was "The Incredible Dr. Pol," a reality program that follows a 70 plus year old Dutch born veterinarian as he treats a wide array of animal patients.

In the course of watching Dr. Pol we learned a lot about farm animals in general and cattle in particular; their care, feeding, ailments and treatments to the point we became pretty good arm chair diagnosticians. We were able to identify cows with a twisted stomach, ones that had recently calved and were down with "milk fever" and more prolapsed body parts than you can imagine. Ugh!

We learned a lot watching Doc Pol, but even more when we attended the Boone County Fair last month, both from those who raise cattle and from brochures we picked up along the way. A good portion of the information came from the Boone County Farm Bureau. Did You Know?

- There are more than 50 breeds of cattle in the U.S.
- Because they are known for the high quality of meat they produce, Angus beef are the most popular breed in the U.S.

- Only male cattle used for breeding are called bulls. Male cattle used for meat are called steers.
- The U.S. produces billions of pounds of beef each year
- 25% of the world's beef supply comes from 10 % of the beef raised in the U.S.
- In Illinois alone, the livestock industry generates 3.5 billion dollars in economic activity. (A combination employment and product production- In 2020 there were about 1.5 million head of cattle in Illinois.)
- The average American eats 62 pounds of beef a year.
- 99% of every steer is used after harvest.
- 40% of the average steer is edible meat. The rest is used for by-products such as: paints, plastics, soaps, insulation, erasers, pet food, piano keys, luggage, wallpaper, medicines (which include insulin), textiles for car upholstery and sports equipment.

Some Sports facts:

- 11 basketballs, 144 baseballs or 20 footballs can be made from one cow hide.
- 700,000 footballs are produced annually for the NFL, which means around 35,000 cow hides are used for 1 single professional sport each year! Who Knew?

Let us not forget the benefits we get from eating beef which is a good source of a number of essential nutrients: iron, choline, protein, selenium, zinc, phosphorus, niacin, riboflavin and vitamins B6 and B12.

These elements help your body to use oxygen, preserve and build muscle, help prevent cell damage, build bones, support metabolism and energy production, help promote growth and maintain health over all. So let's get ready to eat and BRING ON THE BEEF! This month's recipe comes to you by way of Al Roker. It's just a basic hamburger that you can embellish according to your own taste.

What's your BURGER I Q?

1. The best way to keep burgers from balling up when you cook them is to:

- A. Par- freeze the meat.
- B. Add oil to the meat.
- C. Make an indention in the center of the patties.
- D. Press them down with a cast iron pan.
- 2. Which cut of meat typically goes into a hamburger patty?
- A. Shank
- B. Flank
- C. Rib
- D. Chuck
- 3. Where did the term "hamburger" originate?
- A. Burgers were originally made with ham, not beef.
- B. The first chef to create a burger was called James Hamburger.
- C. The precursor to the burger was the Hamburg steak from Hamburg Germany.
- D. Burgers were originally called "handburgers", because you ate them with your hands, and the name changed over time.

Your Basic Burger

- Ingredients: 2 pounds (80-85% lean) ground beef
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

1 teaspoon coarse salt, such as kosher salt

1/2 teaspoon ground pepper

12 slices of cheese- your choice: American, cheddar,

Monterey Jack or other cheese, optional

6 hamburger buns

Instructions:

- 1. In a large bowl, mix together the beef, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Form into 6 patties, approximately 5 ounces each.
- 2. When preheated grill is ready, grill patties over high heat for 6 minutes and then turn over. If using cheese, add 2 slices to each burger. Grill for an additional 6-9 minutes more or until an instant read thermometer inserted in the center of each burger reads 160 degrees f.

*During the last 1 or 2 minutes of grilling, put the buns on the grill, cut side down, and toast lightly.

- 3. Remove burgers from grill. The burgers will be medium. Cover them with tin foil and allow them to rest briefly. As the burgers rest, they will continue to cook under the foil to reach an internal temperature of 165 degrees f. for safe eating.
- 4. Transfer hamburgers to buns and add the toppings of your choice.

Suggested add ons: salsa, guacamole, black bean dip, grilled mushrooms, grilled onions, ketchup, mustard, sliced pickles, lettuce, sliced tomatoes, crisp bacon.

Al has a few pointers: "Don't keep moving the burger around on the grill as it cooks. Let it sit there until it's time to flip it. And do not, I repeat, do not press the burger down with the spatula. All you do is squeeze out all the natural juices of the meat and be left with a dry lump of ground beef!"

TRUE OR FALSE

- 4. T F Scientists have created a lab-grown hamburger.
- 5. T F A burger-scented body spray was released in the U.S.
